

A Journey from blackboard to desktop

"Wherever you find something extraordinary, you'll find the fingerprints of a great Teacher."

In India, Teacher's day is celebrated on 5th september as a token of respect and appreciation of teachers who contributes in shaping the future of a nation. This day marks the birth anniversary of great teacher Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan.

Leading in a crisis for reimagining the career of their students was not an easy task, but we are extremely grateful to our teachers for figuring it all out.

This journey from blackboard to desktop is a transforming and strenuous journey. All my teachers assist me by their thoughtful teachings to endure this tough times. Teachers helped me to become all what I am today, be it holding a pencil in the kindergarten, learning to read in class one or solving problems in higher classes. From guiding us to motivating us, this year has been challenging for them but they supported us throughout and have surely been a ray of hope.
